Barings International Umbrella Fund

Introduction

Barings International Umbrella Fund (the “Unit Trust”) is a unit trust managed by Baring International Fund Managers (Ireland) Limited (the “Manager”). The Unit Trust was established pursuant to the Unit Trusts Act, 1990, and a Trust Deed dated 11 February 1992 (as supplemented or amended from time to time) (the “Trust Deed”) made between the Manager and Northern Trust Fiduciary Services (Ireland) Limited (the “Depositary”) and authorised by the Central Bank of Ireland (the “CBI”), pursuant to the European Communities (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities) Regulations 2011 (as amended) (the “UCITS Regulations”). The Unit Trust is also listed on the Euronext Dublin Global Exchange Market.

As the Unit Trust is registered for sale in Hong Kong, the Unit Trust has also been authorised by the Hong Kong Securities and Futures Commission (“SFC”) pursuant to the provisions of the Hong Kong Code on Unit Trusts and Mutual Funds, supplemented or consolidated from time to time. How the Funds are managed

The Manager of Barings ASEAN Frontiers Fund, Barings Asia Growth Fund, Barings Australia Fund and Barings Hong Kong China Fund has appointed Baring Asset Management Limited as the Investment Manager of the Funds. In turn, Baring Asset Management Limited has appointed Baring Asset Management (Asia) Limited and Barings LLC as Sub-Investment Managers to the Funds.

At Barings, our equity investment teams share the philosophy of quality Growth at a Reasonable Price (“GARP”). We believe that earnings growth is the principal driver of equity market performance over the medium to long term, and favour high quality companies for their ability to outperform the market on a risk-adjusted basis. In particular, we believe that structured fundamental research and a disciplined investment process combining quality growth and upside disciplines can allow us to identify attractively priced, long-term growth companies which will outperform the market. Our approach emphasises quality criteria when looking at companies and a three- to five-year time horizon when forecasting company earnings. In determining upside, we use consistent and transparent methods to place emphasis on discounted earnings models.

The Manager of Barings Europa Fund has appointed Baring Asset Management Limited as the Investment Manager of the Fund.

The Fund is invested in European equity markets (including the United Kingdom), using a “bottom-up” investment approach. This means that we focus more on the individual merits of a specific company, rather than taking a stance on a sector of the market or macroeconomic trends such as interest rate rises. Within this, Barings manages the Fund using a GARP approach. This means that when researching candidates for the portfolio, we place just as much emphasis on the likely growth in corporate earnings at a company as we do on the unit price valuation before deciding whether to invest or not. We believe this approach combines the best features of both “growth” and “value” investment styles, to the benefit of investors. We invest in companies which we believe offer potential for delivering better than expected earnings growth. We do this by carefully researching a company’s corporate strategy and revenue sources. An important part of the investment process involves regular meetings with the management of companies in which we are considering investment. We then work to put a price on the units of the company in the light of our assessment of its earnings prospects and compare this to its peers in the sector and globally. When we are satisfied that a company meets our criteria for investing, we purchase an appropriate number of units.

The Manager of Barings Global Bond Fund has appointed Baring Asset Management Limited as the Investment Manager of the Fund. Barings LLC and Barings Japan Limited were appointed as Sub-Investment Managers of the Fund.

Baring Asset Management Limited seeks investment returns by investing in bond markets where we believe yields are likely to fall and avoiding those we think are expensive. The overall duration, or interest rate sensitivity, of the Fund will fluctuate as our expectations for economic developments change, relative to the market. We will also look to add value through foreign exchange management, identifying those markets where currencies are attractive, for example due to sound economic fundamentals or rising interest rates.

The Manager of Barings Global Balanced Fund has appointed Baring Asset Management Limited as the Investment Manager of the Fund.

Baring Asset Management Limited takes a balanced approach to investing and invests across a wide spectrum of global equities, bonds, and applies a tactical asset allocation strategy by identifying opportunities that it believes are attractive (based upon market valuation measures such as price/earnings ratio, price/book ratio, dividend yield, and earnings) and markets that have diverged from their view of economic reality (e.g. the valuation of the securities are not reflecting the intrinsic value), while carefully managing the extent of the risk exposure of the Fund. We will seek to manage the Fund’s risk exposure by allocating asset classes between equities and bonds and by the diversification of its portfolio. A balanced investment strategy is a way of combining investments in a portfolio that aims to balance risk and return.

Baring Asset Management Limited’s investment process combines a long term (up to 10 years) asset return forecasting framework with a shorter term (typically 12-18 months) approach for tactical asset allocation.

The Manager of Barings Global Technology Equity Fund has appointed Baring Asset Management Limited as the Investment Manager of the Fund.

Baring Asset Management Limited believes that equity markets contain unrecognised growth potential and seeks to identify this through the analysis of a company’s business model whilst incorporating wider ESG trends often referred to as fundamental analysis. ESG trends may evolve over time and may include environmental footprint, societal impact of products/services and effectiveness of supervisory/management boards. Equity investment teams at Baring Asset Management Limited utilise a common investment approach, best described as GARP.

GARP seeks to identify reasonably priced growth companies whose qualities are unrecognised by market participants by performing structured fundamental analysis with a disciplined investment process. Based on the region, country or sector bias of a Fund, analysis of potential growth companies’ includes their future financial performance as well as their business model and management style, while focussing on long-term earnings growth of three to five years. We value companies utilising proprietary valuation models that incorporate ESG analysis and macro considerations.

Baring Asset Management Limited's strategy favours companies with well-established or improving business franchises, profitability focused management and strong balance sheets that enable the company to execute its business strategy. We regard these companies as higher quality as they provide transparency and allow investment professionals to forecast earnings with greater confidence. This allows Baring Asset Management Limited to offer a strategy which should exhibit lower volatility over time. This is further strengthened through the incorporation of a dynamic and forward-looking approach to ESG analysis, with the aim to identify sustainable business practices. This empowers Baring Asset Management Limited to better assess both the potential risks facing the company and the opportunities presented to it, particularly those not apparent or included in traditional fundamental analysis. This also facilitates the Fund's portfolio in exhibiting lower volatility over time while propagating better ESG practices. We believe that ESG integration, a focus on forward-looking dynamics and active engagement is key to unlocking long-term returns in equity investments.

The Manager of Barings Europe Select Fund and Barings German Growth Fund, has also appointed Baring Asset Management Limited as the Investment Manager of the Funds.

At Barings, our equity investment teams share the philosophy of quality "Growth at a Reasonable Price" or GARP. We believe that earnings growth is the principal driver of equity market performance over the medium to long term, and favour high-quality companies for their ability to outperform the market on a risk-adjusted basis. In particular, we believe that structured fundamental research and a disciplined investment process combining quality, growth and upside disciplines can allow us to identify attractively priced, longterm growth companies which will outperform the market. Our approach emphasises quality criteria when looking at companies and a three-to five-year time horizon when forecasting company earnings. In determining upside, we use consistent and transparent methods to place emphasis on discounted earnings models.

The Manager of Barings Global Dividend Champions Fund, has appointed Baring Asset Management Limited as the Investment Manager of the Fund.

Our investment process is predominantly "bottom-up". To find the exceptional businesses that make up the strategy, we use a broad range of research inputs: Barings' internal analytical resources, industry experts, company meetings, quantitative research and company reports, among others. We are natural sceptics – rather than buying into a "story", we seek proof of a company's excellence. Only our highest-conviction ideas make it into the strategy, so robust debate and close analysis of fundamentals are key.

We evaluate candidate companies using the following three-stage process:

- Quality: we scrutinise a company's business model, looking for a range of features and competitive advantages, including network effects, benefits to incumbency, large installed bases, leading brands or a sustainable research and development ("R&D") edge. Upon inspection, companies must earn attractive returns on capital, possess excellent financial profiles and have a management team committed to its role as the steward of shareholder wealth.
- Growth: we assess our candidate companies' ability to deliver long-term profit growth. Sustained growth of both capital and dividends can only be achieved if the underlying business is flourishing. Our process leads us to firms with stable and visible growth profiles rather than companies with more speculative growth ambitions, or those businesses whose fortunes are heavily linked to unpredictable external forces. The ideal investment is a growing company with meaningful control of its own destiny.
- Valuation and scenario analysis: financial statements are "cleaned" of any accounting distortions (such as off balance-sheet liabilities) which may obscure the true financial position of a business, and companies are put through a series of business-specific stress tests. The aim is to ascertain the underlying risk that an investment presents, and to gauge the scale of profit and dividend progression we can reasonably expect under various circumstances. Many companies "fail" this stage of the process – businesses are often found to present too much risk once their underlying fundamentals are "tested". If a company does pass this stage, we then ascertain the long-term value of the business using a highly consistent and cash-based set of valuation techniques.

Please refer to the Prospectus for the full risk profile of each of the Funds. Investors should read the Prospectus and carefully consider the potential risk factors as well as reward factors before investing.

Barings International Umbrella Fund

Investment Managers' Report

For the financial period ended 31 October 2022

Barings ASEAN Frontiers Fund

Performance

Barings ASEAN Frontiers Fund (the "Fund") generated a gross return of -13.13% on the Class A USD Inc unit class and underperformed against the performance comparator with a return of -10.34%* during the reporting period. The Fund generated a net return of -13.87% on the Class A USD Inc unit class.

Similar to other markets in Asia, ASEAN equities went lower over the past 6 months, mainly dragged by continued global macro headwinds ranging from US Federal Reserve's hawkish interest rate hikes, a strong US dollar that led to pressure on local currencies, rising cost inflation, to global economic slowdown and the resulted demand weakness. Nevertheless, thanks to resilient economic recovery domestically as well as tourism revivals post reopening of the region, ASEAN companies have seen positive earnings revisions and improving business growth outlook, which helped mitigate some external pressure and offset partial losses in ASEAN equities over the review period.

Stock selection served as a key detractor to relative performance of the Fund over the review period, especially in Information Technology, Communication Services and Industrials. On the bright side, the relatively positive exposure in Information Technology versus the performance comparator contributed notably to relative performance, thanks to the allocation in solar-related industries.

At a stock level, Philippine-based port manager International Container Terminal Services ended as a notable drag to relative performance of the Fund over the 6-month period, partly owing to concerns over revenue growth slowdown amid macro and geopolitical uncertainties. On the other hand, Indonesia's leading lifestyle retailer PT Mitra Adiperkasa added value to the Fund, driven by better earnings prospect on positive consumption recovery momentum, particularly in segments such as fashion retail in light of improving foot traffic.

Market outlook

As investors probe when global inflation/rates are going to peak, global markets are expected to remain volatile in the near-term, and ASEAN should continue to look relatively defensive. Large domestic economies such as Indonesia and Philippines are expected to see solid economic growth in the coming quarters, as reopening tailwinds continue to drive consumption and investment recovery particularly in Indonesia, a beneficiary of strong commodity prices. Despite headwinds of global economic downturn in 2023 for the more open ASEAN economies, such as Singapore, Malaysia and Thailand, the secular trend of supply chain diversification will benefit their respective companies in the medium to longer term. Thailand should also see an improvement in its current account balance as global shipping costs fall and its tourism industry continue to recover into 2023. Furthermore, while there remain challenges in the near-term, ranging from continued US dollar strength, further rate hikes by ASEAN central banks to keep pace with the US Federal Reserve, to a busy political calendar over the next 12 months, valuations have retraced to attractive levels and the region being a beneficiary of long-term secular trends should help keep investors engaged in the region.

The strong stylistic rotation favoring Value over Growth since 2021 and the resulting de-rating of some of the secular internet platform companies have presented compelling long-term opportunities to rebuild positions there. While valuations are suppressed, scarcer global liquidity is more punitive for unviable disruptors and cash-constrained players, thereby relinquishing market share and improving the incumbents' long-term viability. Outside of the large ASEAN internet names, there are a good mix of investment opportunities in defensive large-cap growth stocks that are relatively insulated from global macro concerns, while a number of interesting mid-cap growth stocks may have company specific growth drivers such as market share gain in their respective industries.

Our ASEAN equity strategy remains positioned in companies exposed to the secular growth themes such as technological ubiquity (the digitalization and connectivity of everything), evolving lifestyle and societal values (sustainability, rising middle class, healthy living) and de-globalization (supply chain diversification and reshoring). The strong stylistic rotations have detracted from our short-term performance, but we believe our Growth-at-a-Reasonable-Price (GARP) investment approach combined with our proprietary portfolio construction tools will position the portfolio favorably beyond the near-term gyrations.

* The Fund return uses the midday prices, whereas the return of the comparator is calculated using global close prices.

Baring Asset Management (Asia) Limited

appointed as Sub-Investment Managers by Baring Asset Management Limited
November 2022

Baring Asset Management Limited (the "Investment Manager") gives its portfolio managers full authority to manage their Funds as they see fit, within the established guidelines set down. This includes the views that managers may take of the markets and sectors they invest in, which may differ from the views of other Barings portfolio managers.

For the financial period ended 31 October 2022

Barings Asia Growth Fund

Performance

Barings Asia Growth Fund (the "Fund") generated a gross return of -24.35% on the Class A USD Inc unit class and underperformed against the performance comparator with a return of -22.37%* during the reporting period. The Fund generated a net return of -25.00% on the Class A USD Inc unit class.

Asian equities extended market weakness over the past 6 months. Markets continued to price in a hawkish US Federal Reserve with aggressive rate hike actions to tame soaring inflation, while rising recession risks in the US and Europe alongside global demand slowdown worries also exacerbated sell-offs in the Asian markets. Meanwhile, escalated geopolitical uncertainty served as another key risk factor to the market. While the Russia-Ukraine conflict remained as an overhang, re-elevated tensions between China and the US as well as cross-strait also added to market volatilities. Regionally, North Asia has performed weak on COVID-19 drags in China alongside down-cycle in the technology sector that impacted export-oriented markets such as Korea and Taiwan. India, on the other hand, delivered relatively resilient performance thanks to a larger portion of domestic-driven economic activities that helped shield itself from external impact, while ASEAN markets also fared relatively well supported by decent economic recovery of the region post COVID-19 re-opening.

Stock selection was a key detractor to relative performance of the Fund over the review period, particularly in Information Technology in light of elevated inventory levels and weakening end-demand amid global economic slowdown, as well as Communication Services led by selective internet companies. On the bright side, stock selection in Industrials contributed notably to the Fund, primarily from some of the holdings in China and Singapore.

At a stock level, Chinese internet conglomerate Tencent ended as a key detractor to the Fund's relative performance over the past 6 months, partly due to soft advertising revenue outlook amid a challenging macro backdrop, not helped by sentiment-driven sell-offs especially from foreign investors that also weighed on near-term share price. On the other hand, China-based solar inverter supplier Sungrow Power Supply was a notable contributor to the Fund, as the company is well positioned to enjoy near-term growing solar energy demand in Europe as well as the secular growth trend of green transition globally in the longer run.

Market outlook

Asian equity's year-to-date decline sets up 2022 to be one of the worst annual performance since the Global Financial Crisis. However, contrary to the dismal market performance, market consensus is still expecting mid-single digit earnings growth for 2023 despite the current downgrade cycle. Clearly, with the latest macro developments and geopolitical movements such as the US high-tech export restrictions to China, earnings expectations continue to have downside risks, while global liquidity contraction and a strong US dollar could further elevate risk levels. While the fundamental outlook for Asia may not be rosy in the short run, and markets are expected to remain volatile in the coming quarters as investors price in the interest rate peak, long-term outlook should start to look more constructive. For one, the US Federal Reserve could be closer to the end of its tightening cycle by early to mid-next year, and that should help ease the strong US dollar headwinds for Asian equities. For China, the 20th National Congress of the CCP (Chinese Communist Party) concluded in October this year and confirmed China's senior leadership for the next five years. This should lead to better coordination of growth-oriented supportive policies and implementation of structural reforms. Furthermore, a probable pivot away from dynamic zero-COVID-19 policy next year should improve growth momentum of its economy. Tech-heavy markets such as Korea and Taiwan have suffered from near-term cyclical downturns of the technology industry, but its capital expenditure reductions planned for 2023 should set the stage for another supply-demand imbalance in time to come. As for ASEAN and India, these markets are expected to benefit from secular tailwinds such as a large and youthful domestic population as well as beneficiaries of supply chain diversification.

Our strategy remains positioned in stocks exposed to the secular growth themes such as technological ubiquity (digitalization and connectivity of everything), evolving lifestyle and societal values (sustainability, millennial/Gen Z consumption trends, healthy living) and de-globalization (supply chain diversification and reshoring). The recent corrections have made valuations more attractive, and we would look for opportunities to add on weakness. While the stylistic rotations have caused some volatility in recent performance, our Growth-at-a-Reasonable-Price (GARP) investment approach has positioned our portfolios favorably beyond the near-term gyrations. At the stock selection level we do not overpay for the company's growth, while at the portfolio construction level, we ensure that our portfolios are not overly exposed to unintended styles or risks.

Barings Australia Fund

Performance

Barings Australia Fund (the "Fund") generated a gross return of -14.98% on the Class A USD Inc and underperformed against the performance comparator with a return of -14.61%* during the reporting period. The Fund generated a net return of -15.71% on the Class A USD Inc unit class.

During the reporting period, all sectors in the market fell amid significant macro headwinds in the form of high inflation, rising interest rates, geopolitical tension and fears of a slowing global economy. On a relative basis, Energy was the top performing sector whereas Real Estate, which is more sensitive to rising interest rates, was the worst performer.

The top positive contributor to relative performance of the Fund over the period was Amcor, a global packaging business. Amcor benefits from a very defensive earnings profile due to non-cyclical demand and attractive contract terms that allow the pass-through of cost inflation. Woodside Energy Group was also a large positive contributor. Global supply chain disruption has been a tailwind to natural gas pricing to Woodside's benefit, though management execution was also good, with the company delivering strong earnings updates.

The Fund's largest detractor to relative performance was Goodman Group, a commercial and industrial real estate business. Earnings updates were sound, however, the share price weakened on concerns rising interest rates will negatively affect the market. While we expect some near-term interest rate pressure, we believe this is reflected in the valuation and the long-term outlook remains very attractive with the company well positioned to benefit from growth in e-commerce logistics and data centres. James Hardie, a building materials company, also dragged on performance. It has a strong market position in its category and good innovation, but a rapidly deteriorating housing market has dampened the growth outlook. In this case, we believe new management has not appropriately adjusted their strategy for the new environment and so subsequently exited the position.

We incorporate ESG into our investment process and engaged with management teams over the period to improve practices and disclosure. The Fund's MSCI ESG rating of AAA puts it in the top 20% relative to global peers, whilst Morningstar rate it "Above Average" for sustainability. In addition to external ratings, we conduct our own proprietary carbon footprint analysis of the portfolio relative to the performance comparator. As of the end of October, the Fund had a carbon footprint that was 43% less than the performance comparator.

We expect macro headwinds to persist as central banks continue to raise interest rates in response to high inflation. We expect this to drag on economic growth and interest rate sensitive sectors such as housing. Our focus is on stock selection driven by bottom-up fundamental analysis, and the Fund remains concentrated around our highest conviction names which we expect to deliver attractive returns over our long-term investment horizon.

We have increased the Fund's exposure to companies where we believe the growth outlook is robust regardless of potentially deteriorating macro conditions. An example is Johns Lyng Group, a rapidly growing small-cap Australian building services group that specialises in the re-building and repair of property that has been damaged by insurable events, such as floods or a fire. The nature of this demand means that it is non-discretionary and non-cyclical. JLG also has attractive contract terms that pass on cost inflation and very significant competitive advantages that should underpin future growth via market share gains.

Another stock we have been adding to is Steadfast Group, a market leader in insurance broking for Australian SMEs. Insurance broking is recession resilient industry and we see good potential for Steadfast in particular to delivery positive earnings surprises over the long-term as the company continues to consolidate its market position under a strong management team.

Within Materials and Energy, our focus remains on companies that are positively exposed to the green energy transition theme, which we expect to be a long-term structural driver of returns in the sector. Barings Europa Fund

The Barings Europa Fund (the "Fund") generated a gross return of -13.80% on the Class A USD Inc unit class and underperformed the performance comparator, which returned -12.64%* during the reporting period. The Fund generated a net return of -14.55% on the Class A USD Inc unit class.

European equities were significantly weaker over the period, reflecting growing fears of a recession against a backdrop of persistently high inflation and increasingly hawkish commentary from major central banks. The ongoing situation in Ukraine and the related energy crisis in Europe also weakened investor sentiment, as the Nord Stream 1 pipeline, which feeds Russian gas into Europe, went offline following maintenance. More positively, gas prices declined towards the end of the period as storage across the continent has been filled.

Value-style equities outperformed Growth over the period by approximately 2.5 percentage points (as measured by the MSCI Europe Growth vs Value indices). This proved to be a significant headwind for our Growth at a Reasonable Price investment approach.

Broadband company Telenet was one of the Fund's weaker performers, as whilst the company has been operationally solid, there have been some concerns regarding the group's strategic direction regarding its fibre network investment plan and the position of its controlling shareholder, Liberty Global. Over our 5-year investment horizon we believe in the strength of the investment case and continue to hold the stock. Garden equipment and tool manufacturer Husqvarna also underperformed, as the company highlighted delivery and availability challenges in their supply chain and a lack of semiconductors for use in its robotic lawn mowers. In our view the long-term story remains intact; the company is a global leader in a market where demand remains broadly strong.

Some of the Fund's best performing holdings on a relative basis were in the Energy sector. TotalEnergies and Shell both contributed significantly, helped by strong quarterly earnings underpinned by high oil and gas prices. Both companies are making significant investments into renewable energy that will ensure their relevance in the future, whilst also offering attractive growth prospects at a reasonable valuation in the near-term.

Equity markets are likely to remain volatile over the coming months, with central banks raising interest rates in response to rising inflation. Furthermore, geopolitical developments continue to exacerbate inflation and weaken global trade, whilst raw material and component supplies remain affected by the war in Ukraine and by the impact of lockdowns in China. Energy prices remain elevated, whilst Europe's dependence on Russian gas supplies has raised fears of energy rationing and even blackouts.

Unsurprisingly, Global Purchasing Manager Indices have weakened all year. Earnings revisions have so far proven more resilient than implied by equity market performance, but future downgrades are possible and assessments for 2023 prospects are likely to be cautious.

More positively, equity markets valuations in our view largely reflect these issues. Furthermore, investor uncertainty and caution have led to undifferentiated share price developments across the market including those companies offering strong earnings developments, and those companies with weaker profitability trends. This should provide compelling opportunities for bottom-up investors to identify strong long-term investments.

We continue to follow our quality Growth at a Reasonable Price investment approach. Our aim remains to identify attractively valued investment opportunities in companies whose strategic positioning and competitive strengths can drive sustained improvements in their profitability and returns.

Barings Hong Kong China Fund

Performance

Barings Hong Kong China Fund (the "Fund") generated a gross return of -30.93% on the Class A USD Inc unit class and underperformed against the performance comparator with a return of -29.55%* during the reporting period. The Fund generated a net return of -31.52% on the Class A USD Inc unit class.

Chinese equities trended lower over the past 6 months on a confluence of risk factors. Domestically, sporadic COVID-19 outbreaks and lockdowns, weak property market condition with incidents of mortgage payments suspension on stalled construction projects, as well as local power disruptions on the back of extreme heat and drought have put pressure on the economy that has been facing a slowdown in growth. External factors also added to market volatility and dampened sentiment further, ranging from elevated geopolitical tensions, US Federal Reserve's hawkish rate hike paces to tame inflation, to climbing global recession fears. In addition, some of the international investors took a more conservative view on China's approach to economic growth after the conclusion of the 20th National Congress of the CCP (Chinese Communist Party), which led to an indiscriminate sell-off and contributed to market weakness.

Stock selection was the major detractor to relative performance of the Fund over the review period, particularly in Information Technology and Consumer Discretionary in light of tech industry down-cycle and weak domestic consumption from COVID-19 drags respectively. On the flipside, the Fund's positive exposure in Industrials relative to the performance comparator contributed notably to the Fund over the past 6 months.

At a stock level, the Fund's lack of exposure in e-commerce platform Pinduoduo ended as a notable detractor to relative performance over the review period, largely due to the company's earnings results over the second quarter that surprised to the upside despite near-term macro headwinds. On the other hand, solar inverter supplier Sungrow Power Supply was a key contributor to the Fund, as the company is well positioned to enjoy near-term growing solar energy demand in Europe as well as the secular long-term trend of green transition globally in the longer run.

Market outlook

The 20th National Congress of the CCP has confirmed President Xi's third term alongside the Politburo members who will be leading the country for the next five years. State-level officials, will be confirmed around March 2023 during the "Two Sessions" meetings and is expected to further strengthen policy continuity and visibility going forward.

The market is widely expecting a series of meaningful policies to support the economy. For one, we expect steps towards gradual easing of China's zero-COVID-19 policies, such as availability of mRNA vaccines, oral drugs against COVID-19, sentiment management, or changes in information disclosures. On another front, policies and moves are expected to stabilize the liquidity crunch facing China's embattled property sector. With that said, these policies and their implementation could take months if not quarters to unfold.

Externally, recessionary outlook is dampening demand expectations from developed markets. Persistent food prices, combined with OPEC (Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries) price controls and Russia-related sanctions are major roadblocks against the inflation target of major central banks. We could see further downward earnings revisions in the export-driven manufacturing sectors.

While the market could still experience some volatilities, China equities are attractively trading towards the lower end of its valuation over the past twenty years. Stronger policy support, easy monetary policy, and mild inflation are tailwinds for the market. China's delay in reopening its borders this year could mean deferring its growth to 2023. We are watching for indicators to suggest improvement in investor sentiment with Chinese equity markets falling to such historically low levels, and have taken advantage of the recent market volatility to build positions in high quality companies that have returned to reasonable if not attractive valuations.

We remain constructive on Chinese equities driven by bottom-up fundamentals, in particular due to the low base effect of the second half of 2021 on the back of easing policies. As the economy gradually normalizes, structural trends such as sustainable growth, self-sufficiency in the supply chain, scientific and technological innovations, and ecological awareness, would continue to unfold. This should bolster the outlook on sectors and themes such as new infrastructure, domestic consumption, health care, technology localization and sustainability in the medium to longer term.

Barings Global Bond Fund

Performance

Barings Global Bond Fund (the "Fund") generated a gross return of -11.26% on the Class A USD Inc unit class and underperformed against the performance comparator with a return of -11.05%* during the reporting period. The Fund generated a net return of -11.80% on the Class A USD Inc unit class.

This should be viewed in context of a challenging period where all major asset classes have significantly underperformed, largely due to major central banks hiking aggressively interest rates in response to the global surge in inflation.

For this reporting period most of the drag is coming from the uncategorised return category factor, which we believe is partly due to LIBOR to SOFR transition and currency rolls. Excluding this category, the Portfolio was up 0.61%, with currency and duration accreting positively while curve and spread were a drag.

Market outlook

The global macro outlook was becoming increasingly uncertain as global central banks continued to aggressively tighten policy while economic growth is unequivocally slowing. While inflation remains high and potentially sticky versus central banks' targets, it seems to be plateauing and even starting to slow across several countries. Major central banks, including the Federal Reserve, ECB, Reserve Bank of Australia and Bank of England are starting to echo our views and convictions of rising recession risks and potential disinflation/below target inflation into H1 2024. Overall, falling growth and slowing inflation are constructive for developed bond markets as central banks are likely to slow, or even pause raising interest rates quite soon. Thus the Managers have positioned the Fund with a long duration posture. To be sure, we are cognizant that geopolitical risks remain high, and that has potential to re-stoke inflation through disruption in global value chains, across food, energy and broader manufacturing sectors. This could weigh on bond markets, particularly if resurgent inflation forced central banks to hike interest rate further to stem risks of de-anchoring inflation expectations. For now, we assign quite a low probability to this stagflation risk.

To reiterate our convictions, the biggest market mover over the coming quarters is the direction of inflation. We continue to expect inflation to stabilise and edge lower, lifting pressure on central banks to tighten aggressively. There are tentative signs that this is starting to happen, although the Managers accept that a full disinflationary trend is yet to establish. We continue to expect core developed bond markets, and specifically duration, to outperform as/when markets start pricing out some of the interest rate hike premium, and reconcile with easing supply side pressures on inflation. Our conviction that global bond yields, particularly in the US, will peak (~4%) continues to rise, but equally being tested by current price action which expects 4.75-5% Fed terminal rates. More recently, price action has started echoing our conviction and we expect duration to continue underperforming. In the medium term, one of the key return drivers we are watching is currencies (USD weaker) and curve (likely to steepen significantly if our expectations of a global recession manifest).

The Managers lengthened duration over the reporting period. The Fund's duration is now 3yrs longer than performance comparator.

The Fund is overweight Europe (core and periphery), Australia (including via regional governments), New Zealand, Canada (including provincials). It has a small underweight in US, predominantly to express the Managers' bearish USD view, but while being long duration overall. On currencies, the Fund is modestly long MXN, but neutral other majors. We continue to believe 'weak USD' is going to be one of the major macro trends of 2023. We will likely express this via reducing currency hedges on EUR bond exposures (i.e. opening a long position in the EUR vs USD).

Barings Global Balanced Fund

Performance

Barings Global Balanced Fund (the "Fund") generated a gross return of -13.32% on the Class A USD Inc unit class and underperformed the performance comparator which returned -10.61%* during the reporting period. The Fund generated a net return of -13.95% on the Class A USD Inc unit class.

During the reporting period, global markets saw high volatility and a seesaw of sentiment given the aggressive tightening in major markets. Inflation remains the core issue; CPI in the US stubbornly running at over 8% with core components strengthening supported by the still strong demand given the policy impact lag, meaning that market could remain volatile in the near term. As market sentiment was clouded by heightening recession concern, our position in cyclical sectors, such as Technology and Semiconductor stocks, dragged the Fund's performance. During the period, we trimmed our equity exposure as we position the Fund for near-term volatility and the Fed's frontloaded rate hike path.

The Russian gas supply disruption has persisted with a complete halt of Russian gas supplies through Nord Stream 1 pipeline. Our position in the US Energy sector continued to benefit from the supply-demand imbalance, contributing positively to the Fund. Given such supply disruption, energy transition has become a greater political imperative globally, especially in Europe given its heavy reliance on imported gas. The fund's position in the Global Clean Energy sector has been one of the positive contributors to the Fund, benefitting from the near-term energy supply risk and the structural transition in sight.

The China and Hong Kong equity markets have been incredibly volatile. We reduced our position in these markets during the third quarter on the back of growing concerns around the domestic economies in the region which we believe are likely to continue to dampen investor sentiment.

Market outlook

Going into the last quarter of 2022, we remain cautious in the near term but remain opportunistic in adding to equity positions on meaningful dips as the risk of a full-blown earnings recession remains low in our view given the still strong household balance sheet and historically speaking, US corporates' ability to adopt to previous business cycles.

The Fed is likely to continue frontloading rate hikes given their re-emphasized commitment to keeping inflation in check. However, the subsequent increases should be less aggressive compared to what we have seen so far this year, unless prices continue to surprise on the upside. With rates starting to stabilize in coming quarters, long duration assets such as Technology/Growth stocks and long dated bonds could become attractive again. In the medium to longer term, we are increasingly constructive on risk asset assuming central banks manage to have inflation back in control. In this context, reasonable recovery in different asset classes could be seen in the next 12 months and we will look to position the Fund accordingly.

Barings Global Technology Equity Fund

Performance

The Barings Global Technology Equity Fund (the "Fund") generated a gross return of -21.55% on the Class A USD Acc unit class and underperformed the performance comparator, which returned -14.20%* during the reporting period. The Fund generated a net return of -22.32% on the Class A USD Acc unit class.

The technology sector declined significantly over the reporting period. Higher growth companies were amongst the weakest performers, with valuations reflective of the impact higher interest rates would have on the discounting of future cash flows. Elsewhere we have seen semiconductor companies underperform on concerns related to the economic growth outlook and inability to meet current strong demand given supply chain bottlenecks, alongside growing geopolitical influences emanating from US and China tensions.

Over the period, the Fund's largest negative relative contributor was a lack of exposure to US tech giant Apple, which released earnings ahead of expectations. Whilst the company has enjoyed stronger than expected sales within its handsets and services businesses in the near term, we believe the company remains highly exposed to the growing slowdown globally as consumer confidence wanes, alongside disruptions to its factories in China from COVID-19 related lockdowns. Varonis, a US software company, was another notable detractor as investors questioned the company's guidance. Valuations for the company have continued to decline, even as relative EPS revisions have outpaced the market. This has been supported by its management of sales and marketing spend, in favour of research and development, which we believe gives greater confidence to growth forecasts looking ahead. Elsewhere, Korean ecommerce company NAVER, was another detractor, with investors reacting negatively to new management, the acquisition of a US company, and decelerating earnings growth momentum.

The Fund's top contributor to relative returns was US cloud-based payroll and HR software company Paylocity. The company released stronger than expected earnings, beating consensus expectations, in light of resilient jobs growth in the US, and the growing need for small-and-medium sized businesses to have better tools to onboard and retain employees. US software company Autodesk, which specialises in software tools across the architecture, engineering and construction industries, also outperformed. The company demonstrated resilient earnings and robust margins, amid the macro slowdown, with their customer base increasingly looking to drive cost efficiencies through digitisation. In addition, IT Services company EPAM, delivered strong results in spite of its exposure to service delivery in Ukraine, Belarus and Russia, executing ahead of expectations, lifting the shares strongly.

Following the recent sector correction, valuations across the sector now look more attractive, and in our view, whilst the near term earnings profiles may reflect the current uncertainty, we believe that expectations for the asset class are overly depressed when considering their long term growth potential.

Taking a step back from recent performance, the fundamentals of many of the structural growth themes that we have liked for some time, such as public cloud growth and the Software as a Service providers which sit on top of it, continue to look very appealing. In many cases, recent share price volatility has created attractive entry points for businesses with the potential to exhibit strong, sustainable growth and investment returns over the long term.

While the current market environment is challenging, with heightened volatility and risk aversion as line of sight for interest rates and economic growth remains uncertain, our investment approach remains unchanged. We continue to believe that technology remains a unique growth area for investment and that the best innovators, disruptors and enablers will ultimately experience strong share price performance.

Performance

The Barings Europe Select Fund (the "Fund") merged from Barings Investment Funds plc in to the Unit Trust on 14 October 2022. The Fund's previous track record with the inception date as at 8 February 2019 has been continued.

The Fund generated a gross return of -12.53% on the Class J EUR Inc unit class but over performed the performance comparator, which returned -14.95%*. The Fund generated a net return of -12.88% on the J EUR Inc unit class.

Smaller company equities were significantly weaker over the period, reflecting growing fears of a recession against a backdrop of persistently high inflation and increasingly hawkish commentary from major central banks.

Over the period both stock selection and country allocation improved relative returns. Medical device manufacturer Tecan and auto parts supplier CIE Automotive were amongst the best performers on a relative basis, whilst healthcare equipment company Getinge and hearing aid retailer Amplifon detracted.

Over the longer term, the Fund has delivered positive absolute returns over three years but these returns have lagged behind the performance comparator. This under-performance reflects weak returns relative to the performance comparator during two specific quarters: Q4 2020 and Q1 2022. During these periods, European (and global) equity markets experienced very sharp moves in share prices, with Value style equities sharply out-performing. Companies with higher quality characteristics by contrast, to which the Fund tends to have a high exposure, underperformed in both periods, and positive earnings revisions did not drive share price performance. This style environment proved, therefore, a material headwind for our Growth at a Reasonable Price investment approach, which prioritises higher quality companies with strong track records whose earnings growth prospects are not discounted in their share prices.

Equity markets will likely remain volatile over the coming months, as economic growth slows and recession risks intensify. This year has already proved remarkably volatile; government bond yields have risen sharply whilst central banks have been raising interest rates to tackle markedly higher inflation.

Unsurprisingly, Global Purchasing Manager Indices have weakened all year. Earnings revisions have so far proven more resilient than implied by equity market performance, but future downgrades are expected and assessments for 2023 prospects are likely to be cautious.

More positively, earnings revisions remain marginally positive, while equity market valuations have fallen very sharply, to well below 20 year averages. Smaller company share prices have underperformed larger companies, amid significant investor redemptions. Valuations in our investment universe have therefore fallen back even further than for larger companies.

Speculation about strength and shape of eventual economic recovery seems, as yet, premature. Style rotation is, however, foreseeable. Growth style equities should begin to benefit from lower volatility in longer term yields. Companies conventionally seen as defensive, particularly in the Consumer Staples sector, appear increasingly expensive. Quality characteristics, having underperformed other styles markedly over the last year, should benefit from balance sheet strength.

Performance

The Barings German Growth Fund (the "Fund") merged from Barings Investment Funds plc in to the Unit Trust on 14 October 2022. The Fund's previous track record with the inception date as at 8 February 2019 has been continued.

The Fund generated a gross return of -8.23% on the Class J EUR Acc unit class and underperformed the performance comparator, which returned -7.83%* during the reporting period. The Fund generated a net return of -8.6% on the Class J EUR Acc unit class. These figures are based on the Fund's intraday valuation point. Based on end of day pricing the Fund performed in line with the performance comparator.

German equities were weaker over the period, reflecting growing fears of a recession against a backdrop of high inflation and increasingly hawkish commentary from major central banks. The ongoing situation in Ukraine and the related energy crisis in Europe also weakened investor sentiment, as the Nord Stream 1 pipeline, which feeds Russian gas into Europe, went offline following maintenance. More positively, gas prices declined towards the end of the period as storage across the continent has been filled.

Stock selection in the Financials sector improved relative performance. The position in reinsurance business Hannover Re performed strongly, as did the holding in Commerzbank. Both companies have proven to be defensive in recent months and have benefitted from rising rates. The portfolio also benefitted from not owning some of the more consumer-focused companies that have been particularly hard hit by rising costs and falls in demand, such as Adidas.

Higher growth technology companies underperformed over the period due to being more cyclical businesses and as a result of rising bond yields. Software companies SAP and Allgeier were both weak despite a lack of any negative company-specific news. On the other hand, shares in PSI Software trended lower in response to some short-term earnings weakness.

Equity markets are likely to remain volatile over the coming months, with central banks raising interest rates in response to rising inflation. Furthermore, geopolitical developments continue to exacerbate inflation and weaken global trade, whilst raw material and component supplies remain affected by the war in Ukraine and by the impact of lockdowns in China. Energy prices remain elevated, whilst Europe's dependence on Russian gas supplies has raised fears of energy rationing and even blackouts.

Unsurprisingly Eurozone PMI continued to weaken over the period, with headline readings now indicating a contraction in activity. However, economic data in Germany has so far proven to be fairly resilient. Economic growth for Q2 was revised upwards, taking GDP back to pre-pandemic levels, whilst industry data in recent months has been solid and car production numbers have picked up.

Earnings announcements have also generally been less weak than feared. However, it is possible that profits for the full year will be revised down and companies may be more cautious with 2023 prospects.

In this context, we have increased exposure in the portfolio to businesses more defensive in nature and less exposed to the economic cycle. Whilst a number of consumer-focused businesses have been sold, as we expect the sector to continue to face significant headwinds.

More positively, equity markets valuations have fallen very sharply as they discount material economic deceleration. High levels of volatility and the significant outperformance of the Energy sector has resulted in undifferentiated share price developments in many sectors between those companies offering strong earnings developments, and those companies with weaker profitability trends. This should provide compelling opportunities for bottom-up investors to identify strong long-term investments.

Barings Global Dividend Champions Fund

Performance

The Barings Global Dividend Champions Fund (the "Fund") merged from Barings Investment Funds plc in to the Unit Trust on 7 October 2022. The Fund's previous track record with the inception date as at 20 October 2016 has been continued.

The Fund generated a gross return of -12.12% on the Class A USD Acc unit class and underperformed the performance comparator, which returned -8.09%* during the reporting period. The Fund generated a net return of -12.84% on the Class A USD Acc unit class.

Over the period, Global equity markets digested persistently high Inflation, rising interest rates and geopolitics, whilst concerns over a slowing global economy, also grew over the period. Amid this backdrop, global equity markets retreated, with all sectors delivering negative absolute returns, bar energy. Inflation has shown some signs of moderating recently and this may continue as economic weakness sets in. However, inflation continues to run higher than the main central banks would like, and this means the prospect of high or rising short-term interest rates remains.

The Fund's largest detractor over the period was Stanley Black & Decker. This followed the announcement of a disappointing set of results that highlighted slowing consumer demand and rising cost pressures. The industrials sector has also more broadly faced headwinds as the economic and consumer-spending outlook has deteriorated, which in turn has negatively impacted sentiment. MARR, a food distribution company, also underperformed, as the company was impacted by investor concerns over the impact of the higher cost of living on its hospitality and eating-out sector customer base. The shares of DCC, an Irish distribution company, fell in light of an uncertain outlook for its LPG business as well as its consumer facing divisions

In contrast, the holding in TJX Companies performed strongly over the quarter. This was driven partly driven by the discount department retailer posting a resilient set of results, which reiterated the strength of TJX's operating model and strong consumer positioning. Meanwhile, investors welcomed strong forward-looking guidance. Our holding in Unilever also improved relative performance. The company's revenues are holding up well despite economic uncertainties as management have raised prices to compensate for higher food and energy costs. Elsewhere, insurance broker AON outperformed, supported by solid earnings that highlighted organic growth and an improved final dividend and share buyback.

This year continues to be difficult for many asset classes, including Global equities. The themes of inflation, rising interest rates, slowing growth and geopolitical tensions remain. Thankfully, COVID-19 seems to be diminishing, offering a lonely bright spot to the outlook.

The energy supply situation continues to look tight. Inadequate new supplies are being developed to replace natural decline much less the disrupted energy flows from Russia. Nevertheless, oil prices declined in the quarter driven by concerns about the slowing global economy and by the temporary oil supplies coming from the US draining its Strategic Petroleum Reserve (SPR). For Europe, the long-term energy supply situation was dealt another blow with the destruction (by sabotage) of the Nordstream I and II pipelines.

Energy investments have performed very well over the past year and it is possible that with lower economic growth the sector gives back some of its gains. However, until global energy supplies are replenished, any set back is likely to be temporary with the supply-demand imbalance reasserting itself whenever economic growth picks up. We think a period of volatile energy prices (and inflation) is in store for us in the coming years though the fund remains structurally underweight this sector owing to the cyclicity of its earnings, commensurate with these being very reliant on commodity prices which can prove very volatile, chiefly oil and natural gas.

Of growing concern in recent months has been the continued rise of interest rates around most of the world. It is clear that rates are now reaching levels that are impacting economic growth and markets. Interest rate sensitive sectors such as housing and housing related areas have been weak. We have not yet been tempted to look in these areas for quality growth stocks or stocks with attractive yields because it feels to us like there is more pain and dislocation to come. We have had an epic boom in house prices driven by historically low mortgage rates - this may take some time to unwind.

If there is a bright spot amid the economic and market gloom, it is this: many high-quality growth stocks with good dividend credentials are now selling at attractive valuation levels that offer good prospects for profitable investment over our 5-year time horizon. We have thus taken the opportunity to invest in a number of stocks with higher dividend yields which in turn has increased the overall yield of the portfolio.

Notes to the financial statements

For the financial period ended 31 October 2022

1. Basis of measurement

The financial statements presented are unaudited condensed interim financial statements for the financial period ended 31 October 2022 that have been prepared in accordance with Financial Reporting Standard 104 ("FRS 104") "Interim Financial Reporting".

The condensed interim financial statements should be read in conjunction with the annual financial statements for the year ended 30 April 2022, which have been prepared in accordance with accounting standards generally accepted in Ireland, including FRS 102 "The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland" and Irish statute, comprising the Unit Trust Act, 1990. As the Barings ASEAN Frontiers Fund, Barings Asia Growth Fund, Barings Australia Fund, Barings Europa Fund, Barings Hong Kong China Fund, Barings Global Bond Fund and Barings Global Balanced Fund (the "Funds") are registered for sale in Hong Kong, the Unit Trust has also been authorised by the Hong Kong Securities and Futures Commission ("SFC") pursuant to the provisions of the Hong Kong Code on Unit Trusts and Mutual Funds, supplemented or consolidated from time to time.

The accounting policies applied in these condensed interim financial statements are consistent with those used in the Barings International Umbrella Fund's (the "Unit Trust's") most recent annual financial statements for the financial year ended 30 April 2022.

The condensed interim financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention as modified by the revaluation of financial assets and financial liabilities held at fair value through profit or loss. These financial statements were prepared on the going concern basis.

The Unit Trust meets all the conditions set out in FRS 102, Section 7, and consequently has availed of the exemption available to certain funds not to prepare a statement of cash flows.

The comparative figures included for the Statement of Financial Position relate to the previous financial year ended 30 April 2022, while the comparative figures included for the Statement of Comprehensive Income and Statement of Changes in Net Assets Attributable to Holders of Redeemable Participating Units relate to the six month period ended 31 October 2021.

2. Significant accounting policies

Fair value measurement

By fully adopting FRS 102, in accounting for its financial instruments, a reporting entity is required to apply either (a) the full requirements of FRS 102 relating to Basic Financial Instruments and Other Financial Instruments, b) the recognition and measurement provisions of IAS 39 Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement and only the disclosure requirements of FRS 102 relating to Basic Financial Instruments and Other Financial Instruments, or c) the recognition and measurement provisions of IFRS 9 Financial Instruments and only the disclosure requirements of FRS 102 relating to Basic Financial Instruments and Other Financial Instruments. The Unit Trust has chosen to implement (b) the recognition and measurement provisions of IAS 39 Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement and only the disclosure requirements of FRS 102 relating to Basic Financial Instruments and Other Financial Instruments.

The use of the IAS 39 recognition and measurement provisions is in line with the pricing policy, which outlines that the fair value of financial assets and financial liabilities be valued at the last traded prices. The financial statements include all the trades received up until 12:00p.m. (Irish time) on 28 October 2022, the valuation point for the Unit Trust.

8. Fair value hierarchy

FRS 102 requires the Funds to classify fair value measurements using a fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in making the measurements. The fair value hierarchy has the following levels:

- Level 1: Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
- Level 2: Inputs other than quoted prices included within level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly (that is, as prices) or indirectly (that is, derived from prices).
- Level 3: Inputs for the asset or liability that are not based on observable market data (that is, unobservable inputs).

The level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement is categorised in its entirety is determined on the basis of the lowest input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. For this purpose, the significance of an input is assessed against the fair value measurement in its entirety. If a fair value measurement uses observable inputs that require significant adjustment based on unobservable inputs, that measurement is a level 3 measurement. Assessing the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurement in its entirety requires judgement, taking into consideration factors specific to the asset or liability.

The determination of what constitutes 'observable' requires significant judgement by the Manager. The Manager considers observable data to be market data that is readily available, regularly distributed or updated, reliable and verifiable, not proprietary, and provided by independent sources that are actively involved in the relevant market.

9. Efficient portfolio management

The Funds may use Financial Derivative Instruments ("FDIs") for efficient portfolio management. The efficient portfolio management purposes for which the Unit Trust intends to employ FDIs are reduction of risk, reduction of cost and the generation of additional capital or income for the relevant Fund with an appropriate level of risk, taking into account the risk profile of the Fund and the general provisions of the UCITS Regulations. The Unit Trust may use various types of derivatives for these purposes, including, without limitation, forwards, futures, options, swaps (including but not limited to total return swaps, credit default swaps, and IRSs) and contracts for differences for these purposes.

Risk Monitoring of Global Exposure

The method used to determine the global exposure for Barings Global Bond Fund is Value at Risk ("VaR"). VaR is calculated daily using Risk Metrics.

Barings ASEAN Frontiers Fund, Barings Asia Growth Fund, Barings Australia Fund, Barings Europa Fund, Barings Hong Kong China Fund, Barings Global Balanced Fund and Barings Global Technology Equity Fund used the commitment approach to calculate their global exposure as described in detail in the risk management process of the Investment Manager.

The Commitment Approach has been calculated, in the case of FFCT's, by converting the FFCT position into an equivalent position based on the market value of the underlying asset. As the Financial Derivative Instruments ("FDI") are used for hedging purposes, the exposure of the FDI has been calculated and then netted against the instrument being hedged. The Global Exposure calculation is performed on a daily basis.

In no circumstances will the global exposure of a Fund exceed 100% of its Net Asset Value.

For relative VaR: the Fund's VaR is shown as a percentage of the VaR of the performance comparator or reference portfolio to ensure that the relative figure is within an internal limit. This limit is set lower than a multiple of two (or 200%) of the performance comparison or reference portfolio VaR.

For absolute VaR: the Fund's VaR is shown as a percentage of the Funds' Net Asset Value and is monitored against an internal limit. This limit is set lower than 20%.

Fund Name	Fund Relative VaR over the period			Performance comparator or reference portfolio
	31 October 2022	31 October 2021	Lowest	Highest	Mean
Barings Global Bond Fund	145.16%	104.65%	66.40%	166.19%	115.86%	FTSE WGBI

Fund Name	Fund Absolute VaR over the period
	31 October 2022	31 October 2021	Lowest	Highest	Mean
Barings Global Bond Fund	7.65%	3.42%	2.62%	7.86%	4.84%
FTSE WGBI	5.27%	3.27%	2.94%	5.35%	4.07%

Some limitations of VaR analysis are:

- the methodology is based on historical data and cannot take account of the fact that future market price movements, correlations between markets and levels of market liquidity in conditions of market stress may bear no relation to historical patterns; and
- the VaR is a point-in-time calculation, and does not necessarily reflect the risk position of the Funds at any time other than the date and time at which it is calculated.

For the financial period ended 31 October 2022

12. Soft commission arrangements

The Investment Manager will pay for research from their own books, as commission paid on trades will be “execution only”, which is the agreed cost for that broker to settle the trade (31 October 2021: same).

13. Contingent liabilities

There are no contingent liabilities at financial period-end 31 October 2022 and financial year-end 30 April 2022.

14. Transactions with connected persons

The UCITS Regulations require that any transaction carried out with the Manager by a Promoter, Manager, Depositary, Investment Manager and/or associate of these (“connected persons”) must be carried out as if negotiated at arm’s length. Transactions must be in the best interests of the unitholders.

The Board of Directors of the Manager are satisfied that there are arrangements (evidenced by written procedures) in place to ensure that the obligations set out in Regulation 43(1) of the Central Bank UCITS Regulations are applied to all transactions with connected persons, and are satisfied that transactions with connected persons entered into during the period complied with the obligations set out in Regulation 43(1) of the Central Bank UCITS Regulations.

15. Taxation

Under current Irish law and practice, the Unit Trust qualifies as an investment undertaking as defined in Section 739B of the Taxes Consolidation Act, 1997, as amended (the “TCA”). On that basis, it is not chargeable to Irish tax on its income or gains.

However, Irish tax may arise if a “chargeable event” occurs. A chargeable event includes any distribution payments to unitholders or any encashment, redemption, cancellation, transfer or deemed disposal of shares for Irish tax purposes arising as a result of holding shares in the Unit Trust for a period of eight years or more, or the appropriation or cancellation of shares of a unitholder by the Unit Trust for the purposes of meeting the amount of tax payable on a gain arising on a transfer.

No Irish tax will arise on the Unit Trust in respect of chargeable events due to:

(a) a unitholder who is neither Irish resident nor ordinarily resident in Ireland for tax purposes at the time of the chargeable event, provided that a relevant declaration is in place (in accordance with Schedule 2b of the TCA) and the Unit Trust is not in possession of any information which would reasonably suggest that the information contained therein is no longer materially correct; or

(b) a unitholder who is an exempt Irish investor (as defined in Section 739D TCA).

Dividends, interest and capital gains (if any) received on investments made by the Unit Trust may be subject to withholding taxes imposed by the country from which the investment income/gains are received and such taxes may not be recoverable by the Unit Trust or its unitholders.

The Finance Act 2010 provides that the Revenue Commissioners may grant approval for Unit Trust Investment Undertakings marketed outside of Ireland to make payments to non-resident investors without deduction of Irish tax where no relevant declaration is in place, subject to meeting “equivalent measures”. A Unit Trust Investment Undertakings wishing to receive approval must apply in writing to the Revenue Commissioners, confirming compliance with the relevant conditions.

16. Bank facilities

There is a bank overdraft facility in place with The Northern Trust Company (“TNTC”). An “uncommitted” multi-currency loan facility has been made available by TNTC to the Funds. During the financial year ended 31 October 2022, Barings ASEAN Frontiers Fund, Barings Asia Growth Fund, Barings Australia Fund, Barings Europa Fund, Barings Hong Kong China Fund, Barings Global Bond Fund, Barings Global Balanced Fund and Barings Global Technology Equity Fund had drawn down on this facility (30 April 2022: Barings Australia Fund).

17. Material changes to the Prospectus

An updated Prospectus of the Unit Trust was issued on 1 December 2022. The following are the material changes made:

- Providing additional disclosures to bring the Prospectus into compliance with Level 2 of the Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation ("SFDR"). All products categorised under Article 8 of the regulation have now incorporated the Annex 2 - Pre-contractual disclosure into the Fund specific supplements.

There are other immaterial changes to the Prospectus that are not listed above.

18. Significant events

COVID-19

The spread of COVID-19 around the world continued in 2022. While the degree of disruption and market volatility within international markets seemed reduced in comparison to financial year ended 30 April 2021, COVID-19 continues to impact not only demand for goods and services, but also supply chains. Uncertainty remains around the breadth and duration of business disruptions related to COVID-19, as well as its impact on international economies. The Unit Trust continues to actively monitor the extent of the impact to its operations, financial accounting and reporting.

Russian/Ukraine conflict

The ongoing conflict between Russia and Ukraine has led to significant disruption and volatility in the global stock market. As a result of this, the fair value of Russian securities held within the Funds experienced a sharp decline. Management made the determination to value Russian Equities (local/ADR/GDR) at nil and all Ukrainian positions on a bid basis. This was based on the current restrictions on trading due to sanctions and market liquidity. The future ramifications of the evolving conflict may not be limited to Russia and Russian companies or Ukraine but may spill over to other regional and global economic marks, and the extent of the resulting impact is uncertain. As at 31 October 2022, the Funds held no Russian or Ukrainian securities.

The Barings Global Dividend Champions Fund merged from Barings Investment Funds Plc in to the Unit Trust on 7 October 2022.

The Barings Hong Kong China Fund Class I USD Acc was launched on 12 October 2022.

The Barings Europe Select Fund and Barings German Growth Fund merged from Barings Investment Funds Plc in to the Unit Trust on 14 October 2022.

There have been no other significant events to the financial period-end which, in the opinion of the Directors of the Manager, that may have had an impact on the financial statements for the financial period ended 31 October 2022.

19. Subsequent events

The Barings China A-Share Fund and the Barings Global Equity Allocation Fund merged from Barings Investment Funds Plc in to the Unit Trust on 18 November 2022.

The Prospectus of the Unit Trust was updated on 1 December 2022. The material changes to the Prospectus are outlined in note 17.

There have been no other events subsequent to the financial period-end which, in the opinion of the Directors of the Manager, may have had a material impact on these financial statements for the financial period ended 31 October 2022.

20. Approval of financial statements

The financial statements were approved by the Board of Directors of the Manager on 14 December 2022.

General information

For the financial period ended 31 October 2022

Market timing

Repeatedly purchasing and selling units in the Funds in response to short-term market fluctuations – known as ‘market timing’ – can disrupt Baring Asset Management Limited’s (the “Investment Manager”) investment strategy and increase the Funds’ expenses to the prejudice of all unitholders. The Funds are not intended for market timing or excessive trading. To deter these activities, the Directors of Baring International Fund Managers (Ireland) limited (the “Manager”) may refuse to accept an application for units from persons that they reasonably believe are engaged in market timing or are otherwise excessive or potentially disruptive to the Funds.

The Directors of the Manager reserve the right to redeem units from a unitholder on the basis of the circumstances of the unitholder concerned, or if it has reasonable grounds to believe that the unitholder is engaging in any activity which might result in the Funds or their unitholders as a whole suffering any legal, regulatory, reputational or other material disadvantage which the Funds or their unitholders as a whole might not otherwise have suffered.

UK reporting fund status

UK taxable investors in UK reporting funds are subject to tax on their units of the UK reporting funds’ income attributable to their holdings in the Fund, whether or not distributed, while typically any gains on disposal of their holdings are subject to capital gains tax.

Details of the unit classes which currently have UK reporting fund status are available at the Her Majesty’s Revenue and Customs (“HMRC”) Collective Investment Schemes Centre website:

As stated above UK tax payers should note that, for each unit class with reporting fund status, their share of any amounts of income, if any, that has not been distributed will be subject to tax.

Further details will be made available on the Barings website: www.baring.com.

Foreign investment companies (such as Baring International Fund Managers (Ireland) Limited (the “Manager”)) must provide documentation to the German fiscal authorities upon request, e.g. in order to verify the accuracy of the published tax information. The basis upon which such figures are calculated is open to interpretation and it cannot be guaranteed that the German fiscal authorities will accept the Manager’s calculation methodology in every material respect.
