JPMorgan Sustainable Infrastructure Fund¹⁾

- The Fund invests primarily (at least 70%) in equity securities globally (including listed real estate investment trusts ("REITs")) that are well positioned to promote the development of the infrastructure required to facilitate a sustainable and inclusive economy, whilst not significantly harming any environmental or social objectives and following good governance practices.
- The Fund is therefore exposed to risks related to investment, equity, REITs, sustainable investing, infrastructure companies, its investment strategy (associated with concentration in a single theme and/or sub-theme; sub-themes and changing market trends; the use of big data research and artificial intelligence technique), concentration, emerging markets, small companies, currency, derivatives and class currency.
- Where the income generated by the Fund is insufficient to pay a distribution as the Fund declares, the Manager may at its discretion determine such distributions may be paid from capital including realised and unrealised capital gains. Investors should note that the payment of distributions out of capital represents a return or withdrawal of part of the amount they originally invested or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Any payments of distributions by the Fund may result in an immediate decrease in the net asset value per unit. Also, a positive distribution yield does not imply a positive return on the total investment.
- Investors may be subject to substantial losses.
- Investors should not solely rely on this document to make any investment decision.
